Gilb, Bostick Given New Football Posts

Both New Coaches
Former Footballers

Elmer (Baldy) Gilb, former University three-letter man and assistant football coach at the state institution for three years under Head Coach Harry Gammon, and again in 1942 under Ab Kirwan, has been selected by Head Coach B. A. Shively as one of his part-time assistants, with the approval of President Herman Lee Donovan. Formal action on Gilb's appointment will be taken today by the executive committee of the Board of Trustees.

Won Football Numerals

Gilb entered the University from Newport in 1925, and won numerals in football, basketball and baseball that year, also serving as captain of the freshman basketball team. He earned his football letters in 1926, '27 and '28, playing end one year and in the backfield for two years. He earned his varsity basketball letter in 1929 and letters in baseball in 1927, '28 and '29, serving as captain of the diamond squad in 1929.

It was in 1929, '30 and '31 that Gilb assisted Harry Gammon, then Kentucky head football coach, and Kirwan again called on the former Kentucky player to assist him in 1942.

Besides coaching the Lexington Junior high school basketball team, where he teaches mathematics, Gilb has also served as assistant football coach to John G. Heber at Henry Clay high school.

The new coach holds the AB degree from the University, which he earned in 1929, and the MA obtained in 1936. He is a member of Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity, and is married to the former Stella Spicer of Lexington, also a University alumna. They have one daughter.

Bostick Appointed

Lee Bostick, line coach of the University of Alabama last year, has been appointed an assistant football coach for the Wildcats, Coach Bernie Shively announced March 10.

Bostick, Alabama lineman from 1936-38 and Cleveland professional in 1939, will report for duty April 1. In announcing Bostick's appointment, Shively said that he was the first of three assistants he hopes to appoint. The Wildcat coach wants one more full-time coach and a part-time man.

The new assistant coach has had a very colorful football career. He played right guard on the Crimson Tide eleven from 1936 through 1938 and was the captain of the team his senior year. The 1938 "Bama team was one of the best ever produced at the Tuscaloosa school.

Bostick's last appearance against the Big Blue of Kentucky was in 1938 when the Wildcats went down in defeat 26-6 at Stoll field. That senior year, Bostick was prominently mentioned as all-American material.

Opposed Kentucky

Bostick was a regular guard on the 1937 Alabama club, which lost to Southern California by 13-0 in the Rose Bowl.

After graduating from Alabama in 1938, Bostick played professional football with Cleveland for a year, and was line coach at Howard College from 1940-41. He joined the Alabama coaching staff in 1942.

At Alabama he succeeded Hank Crisp as line mentor, when the latter was given a leave of absence as a civilian trainer at Georgia Pre-Flight school. Crisp returned to the campus only a few weeks ago, and

R. H. Hooper Will Speak At Next Convo

Classes Will Be Dismissed
For Occasion

Richard H. Hooper, of the Radio Corporation of America, will speak to the student body on the "Future of Television" at the first convocation of the spring quarter at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

Classes regularly scheduled for the 4th hour on that day will be dismissed for the convocation, according to the dean of the University.

Handles Production

Mr. Hooper was chosen by the Radio Corporation of America to handle program production and sales promotion on receiving sets when the corporation first began its public television program service, in 1939.

He is one of the few men with this company who is not an engineer, but has confined his activities to what might be considered the human and commercial side of the business. He brought a background of dramatic production and radio station management to the television industry.

Was At World Fair

Mr. Hooper has been associated with the RCA Traveling Television unit which toured the country with a portable television studio and a number of home type receivers, to give the public a preview of what it could expect of television in the home. He was in charge of the Television studios at the New York World's Fair, where many of the techniques that are now used in commercial television were developed.

The distinction of being one of the first men to ever produce television shows under two flags, by taking a television unit into Hamilton, Bermuda, to do a special show as the guest of the governor general of Bermuda, is Mr. Hooper's, also.

UK Students Work Hard!!!

By Lib Faulkner

Repairing broken jewelry or coaching teams in the city parks are two extremes on the list of part-time jobs performed by UK students.

Many students are paying part or all of their school expenses by doing some sort of work after classes. For example, journalism students earn spare cash and learn their trade by working on The Kernel or the Lexington papers as everything from office boy to staff writer. Many journalism students make spending money by free-lance writing and by working in Lexington's radio studios.

Assistant dietitian in a Lexington hospital and keeping children for busy housewives are two occupations filled by home economic students.

Student artists have been known to fix anything from broken jewelry to disfigured oil paintings. Art students letter signs for local stores and make novelties for Lexington's gift shops.

Chemistry majors do government research projects in their labs, while bacteriology majors learn and earn as hospital laboratory assistants.

UK's physical education majors direct group activities in the city parks and even lead classes in "how to reduce" for town women.

Psychology majors conduct interviews for various polls and serve as subjects in department experiments, while music students earn cash by playing in some of the local dance bands.

Besides the varied work done off the campus by students, there are many jobs filled at the University.

Other jobs are found in the Student Union cafeteria and at the nursery school.

Junior, Senior Women To Be Interviewed By Representatives

A career conference, planned by Mortar Board, to help junior and senior women find jobs, will begin on the campus April 5.

The conference, jointly sponsored by Dean of Women Sarah B. Holmes, Mortar Board, and Dorothy Evans, social director of the Student Union, will bring representatives from large organizations to the campus to interview junior and senior women.

Those organizations which will send representatives include Ashland Oil and Refining company, Courier-Journal, Curtis-Wright of Louisville, Indiana Ordnance (DuPont), National Girl Scouts, R.C.A. Victor division, Seagram, Tennessee Eastman, Welfare division at Frankfort, Wright field and Civil Service.

Students may apply for permanent or summer jobs.

Kernel Staff Will Meet

There will be a compulsory meeting of The Kernel editorial staff at 4 p.m. Monday in the News room.

Reporters will be required to work at least two hours a week from now on, to classify as members of the staff. Beginning next week a record of the hours will be posted.

All students interested in working on The Kernel are asked to attend the meeting.

Vocational Conference Being Held

Thirty Women,
UK Graduates,
Will Speak

How to meet eligible men, what type work is available, and the opportunities of advancement, are all questions being answered for University undergraduates by a group of thirty business women participating in a vocational guidance conference being held on the campus now.

All UK Graduates

The business women, all graduates of the University, are brought to the campus by the House President's council. Each woman is qualified to answer questions about some vocation.

Speakers on today's program at 3 p.m. in the Union building are Lieut. McCleavy, U. S. Army Signal Corps, Room 204; Miss Margaret Griffing, Department of Chemistry, Northwestern university, Room 205; Emily S. Warfield M. D., Room 206.

Scheduled For Today

Those scheduled for 4 p.m. today are: For occupational therapy, Mrs. Dossa M. Hartwell, U. S. Veterans' hospital, Room 204; Miss Louise Galaway, University school library, Room 205; for social welfare, Miss Muriel Davis, Room 206.

At 5 p.m. Miss Kitty Conroy, University high school, Room 204; for secretarial work, Miss Ann Wilson of Dean W. S. Taylor's office, Room 205, and Miss T. J. Rentz, Lexington Recreation department, Room 205, will speak.

To Speak Tomorrow

Those occupations scheduled for Saturday are: community nutrition Miss Emily Bennett, director, Central Dairy council, Room 204; music, Miss Jean Marie McConnell, Pica-dome school, Room 205; medical technology, Miss Betsy Covington, City and County Public Health department, Room 206.

Speakers Thursday were Miss Ruth Harper, nursing; Miss Mary E. Collins, homemaking, Lieut. Vera Haskell, Wac; Mrs. Harold N. Rundorff, physiotherapy; Miss Vera W. Gillespie, journalism; Mrs. Frank Murray, Girl Scouts; Miss Betty Brewer, personnel; Mrs. Verna Carlisle, Nursery schools; and Miss Helen Fortune, accounting.

The conference is being held in connection with the annual Mortar Board Career conference, April 5 and 6, which brings representatives from companies interested in hiring graduates, to the campus.

K-Dets To Meet

All women who have belonged to K-Dets, woman's drill or organization, and all coeds desirous of joining this quarter, are requested to appear for meeting at 5 p.m. Tuesday at the Armory. It is imperative that the group drill in full strength preparatory for the first military parade, scheduled for early April, officials say.

Red Cross Campus Drive Opens Monday

Your Dollars Aid
Many Red Cross
Wartime Activities

The University's Red Cross war fund drive will begin Monday and continue through Friday, with the goal set at $300. All campaigning will be directed by the Student Government association.

Charts Show Tabulations

A chart will be placed in each residence unit to record daily collections by drive chairmen, and a master chart in the Union building will show all-campus tabulations. Chairmen in each residence unit will be appointed this week. The drive will be conducted on a competitive basis between residence units.

SGA President Bill Embry announced Wednesday, "Though the local quota has already been met, we must still give as generously as possible. You all know whom your contributions will help—your brothers, fathers, sweethearts and husbands. So, let's all show we care, and give our share!"

National Red Cross' wartime activities include aiding families of servicemen, maintaining "clubs" in war areas for recreation, distributing nearly 11 million packages yearly to Yank prisoners of war, in addition to its regular hospital and rehabilitation services.

Charter Obligations

Briefly summarized in the 1945 Red Cross handbook, its "charter obligations" are as follows: "to furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded of the military branches in time of war; to act as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their army and navy; to mitigate the sufferings caused by pestilence, famine, fire, flood, and devise means of prevention; and to submit an annual report to Congress, with accounts audited by the War department."

The faculty and staff of the University had raised $3,080 by Wednesday for their part of the Red Cross drive which began on March 1. All reports of donations had not been received at that time.

Members of the AST and ASTH have contributed $12.50 to date. The student drive was postponed until after the faculty drive because of exams and registration, officials said.

Reginald Bowen, Arts and Sciences Junior from Hillcrest, has been appointed general chairman of the campus drive. Bowen is chairman of the SGA social committee, member of the Student Union board, and a member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity.

Under the general chairman, the drive is sub-divided into men's and women's units, with canvass chairmen for both residence and town students.

Head of the men's division is Norman Chrisman, Engineering senior from Pikeville. Women's division head is Gwen Pace, Arts and Sciences Junior from Tavares, Fla.

John Robbins and John Hopkins will canvass men living in campus dormitories; W. B. Wrench heads the division which will contact men living in town.

Marybelle Calvert heads the sorority group of the women's division; Helen Davis heads the dormitory residents, and Betty Ruth Harris is in charge of women living in town.

Joseph Covington is chairman of the Red Cross drive's speaker bureau and Marjean Wenstrup heads the publicity division.

Professor West III

Prof. Perry West, head of the Mechanical Engineering department, has been confined to the hospital for several days, according to the Engineering department.

Enrollment Moves Up In Spring Registration With 100 New Veterans

Funeral Services Held For Dr. Jesse Adams

Professor Taught
At UK Since 1925

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. March 12 at the Calvary Baptist church for Dr. Jesse Earl Adams, head of the Philosophy of Education department in the Department of Education of the University.

Dr. Adams, who has been professor of education and director of summer session at the University since 1925, was born in Monroe City, Ind., on April 24, 1888, the son of George W. and Ella M. Adams.

Receives Degrees

He received his AB degree at Vincennes university in 1913 and at February 20, 1920, he married Esther M. Nicholson of Wheatland, Indiana. He later received his AM degree at Indiana university in 1922 and his Ph.D. at Indiana in 1925.

During his years as a professor, Dr. Adams wrote several books and educational periodical reports. These books include A Study in the Equalization of Educational Opportunities in Kentucky; Child Centered Speller; Self - Teaching Spelling Tablet; Curricula for Small High Schools; and was co-author of An Introduction to Education and the Teaching Process.

Served With Army

During World War I, Dr. Adams served with the United States Army, and in the course of his life-time has been a member of the Baptist church, the Masonic lodge, the National Education association, the National Society for the Study of Education; National Society of College Teachers; American Association of University Professors, Kentucky Education association, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, Kappa Delta Phi, the Central Kentucky Blue Grass Executive club, Research club of the University, the National Curricular association, Association of Deans and Directors of Summer Sessions, and Kiwanis club.

Survivors Include

Dr. Adams is survived by his wife and two sons, Lieut. William Randolph Adams and Jesse E. Adams, Jr.; one grandson, William Randolph Adams, Jr.; a twin sister, Mrs. LeRoy Wilson of Monroe City; two other sisters, Mrs. George Small and Mrs. Philip Cooper, also of Monroe City; and two brothers, Randolph Adams of Detroit, Mich., and the Rev. George W. Adams, Martinsville, Ind.

Kernel Appoints Business Manager

Peggy Watkins, A&S junior of Lexington, was appointed business manager of The Kernel last Friday replacing Margaret Julia Wharton who recently resigned from the post.

Miss Watkins began her duties last Monday and has promised no change in policy or staff for the present.

Miss Watkins is an Alpha Gamma Delta, an active Guignol worker, and is at present employed in the advertising department of a downtown store.

Margaret Julia Wharton is vice-president of Kappa Kappa Gamma, social sorority, and a member of the Newman club.

Advertising staff members are: Mary Hillenmeyer, Peggy Ellis, Jean Johnson, and Sue Ann Penimore.

Flood Delays Publication

The 1945 Kentuckian, scheduled to go to press last week, will be delayed for a short time on account of a tie-up of cuts. Because of high water in Cincinnati, Art-Crafts engravers, who hold the contract for Kentuckian cuts, were unable to complete their work on schedule. The yearbook is ready to go to press as soon as the cuts arrive, June Baker, Kentuckian editor, announced today. The book was scheduled to appear May 1, but it may not appear until the following week, Miss Baker said.

The 208-page layout, presenting eight pages of snapshots, has already been completed. In addition to the usual sections, the Kentuckian will present a calendar reviewing events of the year. The first section will be printed in two colors, and Shadow and Phenix type will be used throughout the issue. The inside cover will show a two-page spread of a wildcat.

Kentuckians will be mailed to all students leaving school before May 1 if deposits for mailing costs have been left at the Kentuckian office. Anyone who has not left his deposit should do so at once. Further announcements will be made through The Kernel about publication date.

Seniors, upon presentation of their receipts for senior fees, will receive Kentuckians first. Second priority will be given to those students holding receipts for down payments on the annual. The remaining yearbooks will be sold at $4.50 each to any student wishing to buy one.

Confidence in the administration of the University and appreciation of its president, Dr. H. L. Donovan, and the board of trustees, was expressed in a resolution adopted by the executive committee of the Kentucky Press association in a meeting at the Lafayette hotel, Saturday, March 18.

In another resolution, also introduced by Mr. Forgey, the committee expressed appreciation to President Donovan and the board of trustees for their interest in the state press.

"President Donovan and the board of trustees of the University of Kentucky have demonstrated their interest in the press of the state through the establishment of our central office at the University, and have permitted Secretary Victor R. Portmann, assistant professor of journalism at the University, to help the association," the resolution stated.

Plans for the erection of a journalism building on the campus of the University when materials are available, and for advancement of the University's Department of Journalism, one of the 34 class-A units of instruction in journalism in the United States, were also endorsed.

The Kentucky Kernel is a member of the Kentucky Press association.

Mrs. Holmes Speaks

Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes spoke on "Tomorrow's Citizens" last night at the forum held in Georgetown.

Men To Women Ratio Remains One To Three

A sharp increase enrollment at the University at the beginning of the spring quarter has been attributed partly to the registration of more than 100 World War II veterans.

At the end of the second day of registration, student enrollment totaled 1,533 as compared to 1,184 who had registered at this time a year ago.

Dr. M. M. White, associate dean of the Arts and Sciences college, and personnel director, said Wednesday that about 115 war veterans are enrolled. He said that a large percentage of them are interested in law.

The ratio of enrollment at the University during the war has been about three girls to one boy, and Miss Maple Moores, assistant registrar said that the ratio likely would be the same again this quarter.

At present there are approximately 300 soldiers of the Army Specialized Training Program, and the Army Specialized Training Reserves stationed at the University.

During registration, Miss Moores said, two scarfs, a man's raincoat, and a girl's raincoat were left in the Union building. They are now at the office of the registrar in the Administration building. The owners may call there for them.

Religious Week To Be Climaxed By Easter Services

Religious Emphasis week which will begin on the campus Monday, will be climaxed by the annual Easter Sunrise services on April 1.

To further student participation in the observance of the week of prayer the YM-YWCA and the Interfaith council have made arrangements for a number of prominent speakers to visit the University on March 26, 27, and 28.

The speakers are Dr. Jameson Jones, head of the department of Philosophy of Centre college; Mr. Ralph Frost, secretary of the YMCA at the University of Tennessee; Rev. Brough Maddox, student at the Baptist Theological seminary of Louisville; Rabbi Maurice N. Eisen-drath, former conductor of the Forum of the Air and a member of the Jewish Chautauqua society; and Miss Elizabeth Turner, traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer movement.

Rev. Maddox will speak at the Freshman club meeting on Tuesday, while Rabbi Eisen-drath will talk at the Upperclass meeting. Mr. Frost is scheduled to appear at the Phalanx meeting on the same day while Miss Turner will be guest speaker on Sunday of the following week at Rev. Rob McNeill's Sunday school class. Other talks for the visitors have not been scheduled as yet, but it has been announced that some of them will visit the fraternity and sorority houses.

Question: What question would you like this column to ask this quarter?

Marshall Hahn, A&S, senior: What new ideas do you have in regard to social life this quarter?

Virginia Babb, Com., Junior: How to get A's out of classes?

Wilma Mann, A&S, sophomore: How can one persuade their profs to have classes outside?

Doonkie Kirk, A&S, sophomore: What to do to avoid wolverines on the campus?

George Vulech, A&S, sophomore: Are the students going to be more interested in school or in social activities?

Margaret McCorkle, A&S, junior: What's happened to "the playground of the South"?

Julie Landrum, A&S, senior: How are people going to get back and forth from the river and the lake?

David Beam, Eng., freshman: What is the best way to get acquainted with UK coeds?

Ruth Martin, A&S, senior: How can you graduate in ten easy quarters?

Ann Barron, A&S, senior: What are people going to do for excitement on Saturday night?

It's Officially Spring But Cold As Xmas

By Mary Louise Patton

"The spring is sprung, the grass is riz, wonder where all my little students is," says the puzzled professor when he faces a nearly vacant classroom on one of spring's most beautiful days.

Most students interviewed in this week's survey said that when the spring is sprung their fancy turns to cutting classes and love 'n' stuff.

A senior said that spring moved her to thoughts of love but that it didn't do her much good since the principal object of those thoughts is in Italy. "And my mental telepathy process aren't what they should be," she said. "My grades usually do come up but I stay lazy all quarter."

Affects Studying 100% One soldier on the campus said that spring affects his studying

100%. "I attempt to study as often as I have before, but spring just makes me want to lay around and dream all day," he said. "I have plans to improve my attitude this spring though," (he added in a small voice.)

One freshman girl said spring made her want to get out in the sun and take walks—with MEN. "I attempt to study outdoors in the spring but I've learned that that doesn't work," she said, "and I'm afraid I won't be able to look forward to many walks this spring with the male species."

Spring Offers Some Encouragement An eager-beaver senior was energetically studying the night BEFORE this quarter's classes began. When asked if spring affected her studying she said that it made her study more. "Spring encourages me to get better grades," she declared.

Agreeing that spring makes you study more, a sophomore said. "When it is cool and yet pleasant it makes me want to accomplish things. I take sun baths and walks but I still study as much as I did before." She added, "Spring is my lucky season. It usually makes my grades come up so I'm awaiting developments now."

One junior who is a Mrs. said that she usually got better grades in the spring but "I can't eat. I can't sleep, and I can't study—all I can do is sit and think about my husband," she declared.

The Power of Spring

Another coed said that studying interfered with her spring. She said that she didn't believe that the professors realized the full power of spring. "I'd rather go out and study nature than sit in a classroom and study a botany plant. Spring would also be a good prerequisite for the marriage and the family courses."

One coed said that spring really plays havoc with her studying. "I'm always spring fever's prize victim. Spring makes me want to hibernate and sleep," she stated. "I know I can't afford to sleep this spring since it's my last quarter of college but I sure am going to have to fight against it."

A journalism major said that spring didn't seem to affect her grades but it certainly did her studying. "With everything around you so new and alive in the spring it's hard to settle down to books which seem so dead," she reasoned.

THE SALT SHAKER

By Billie Fischer

New York

Hello, Everybody.

Pardon us while we giggle with glee! Here we are having a wonderful time while you're all slaving away over hot textbooks. All we have to worry about is sneaking back to Lexington before Dean Holmes reads this and finds out that we're not there.

But, evidently, no one really cares whether we're here or there. This morning in the mail, we received a bulletin giving all kinds of information about the University of Kentucky. It seems like a lovely place—we'll have to try it some time.

We couldn't forget Kentucky even if we wanted to. There are reminders constantly about us. Seeing B. K. Sutton certainly brought back memories of UK. And in the movies the other night we saw pictures of Louisville inundated.

And then there were those Kentuckians we met in a downtown college hangout. With our "glasses raised on high," we stood and sang "My Old Kentucky Home" till curfew-time. Two of the fellows were from Louisville, and one of the girls was from Paducah.

One inebriate insisted, with a heavy drawl, that he was a Kentuckian. When we discovered that he didn't know the words to "My Old Kentucky Home," we asked him what city he was from in Kentucky. He thought awhile and answered, "Albuquerque."

To ease our conscience, we've been trying to keep up, in a decidedly vague way, with our school work. For our English work, we've been doing a lot of reading. (But it's all in the Manhattan phone directory.) For our philosophy class, we've been philosophizing with taxi drivers. (We found out that there were 24,000 cabs in New York in 1924; 16,000 before the war, and only 8,000 now.)

We tried to do a little something for our Spanish class, too. (All we could accomplish was eating Chicken Mexicaine in the Latin Quarter, and seeing a Spanish stripteaser in a Greenwich Village dive.) We tried to speak some German to Grandpappy, but he just winced and asked us to please continue to write it. Soooo, it looks like we'd better hotfoot it back to UK quick—before we forget everything we've learned.

We thought we were really quite brilliant and well-informed (we're a JUNIOR now, you see), and we were all ready to sit Daddy down and tell him all about the world and things in general.

But he asked the wrong questions. And we didn't know the answers. So we're coming back to UK.

We just killed a good half hour phoning the Belvedere hotel. We thought that we would get a statement from the Wildcats, but after speaking to the manager, the switchboard operator, a bell-hop and a fellow named Joe, we found out that the team hasn't arrived. Oh well. We can wait.

The only obvious changes in the "Wonder City" are the hot weather, the curfew and our new record machine. The weather and the curfew are unbearable. So is the phonograph.

We don't mind the curfew so much because it was lifted until 1:00 a.m. here. But the new record machine scares us silly. It holds twenty records and picks them up all by itself, and turns them over all by itself. So, you can leave the blasted thing alone for two hours and forty minutes while you listen to continuous music.

But after sitting before those closed cabinet doors for just a few minutes, visualizing those cold steel hands picking up our precious records in its indifferent day, and listening for the expected crash of grinding gears while the dear sweet blood of our records is splashed all over, we're usually well on our way to hysterics.

We'll be quite happy to get back to Kentucky and let Bud Abbott do all the work.

We really did have lots more to say, but after reading Walter Winchell's column for the day, we see that he has scooped us again, so we'll sign off now with Love to everybody.

Vocational Conferences

Although the three-day vocational guidance forums, which began yesterday in the Student Union building, are the first to be held on the campus this year, they are familiar to the majority of women who have benefited by their helpfulness in past years.

The meetings aren't merely a series of guidance talks. Instead they attempt to help University undergraduates, who will be planning a career of their own after graduation, decide their type of work, in round table discussions of various problems—variety of work, kinds of jobs available, opportunities for advancement, or occasion to meet those who can further advance them.

As in other years the conference is sponsored by the residence halls and the house presidents' council, who in turn choose the speakers for the entire time.

And this year again the group of business women, all graduates of the University within the last three or four years, are well represented in their field. They are prepared to answer questions pertaining to vocational problems, they have a thorough understanding of what the University woman will find when she graduates, and the experiences each has had in their business practices are proof of their ability to present a true picture in the daily discussions.

The thirty business women who will meet with certain groups throughout the sessions are all recognized in their own line. Besides speakers who haven't as yet been scheduled definitely but represent recreation, art, nursing, medical technology, chemistry, and other professions, are those who will address the forums on particular subjects.

Included in the conferences are the woman editor of the Richmond Daily Register, a representative of the Veterans' Hospital—occupational therapy, a certified public accountant, a home demonstration agent, a public school teacher, a member of the Women's Army Corps, an office secretary, and many others.

Each is prepared to present a full discussion of their work. Each will endeavor to make the task of adjusting one's self to a new environment of business and vocation easier for the University woman.

With a check-list of questions already prepared for each speaker, individual problems will be the main theme. These questions concerned the phases of the field particularly good for women; whether or not the work was varied or monotonous; the opportunities for meeting new people; the occasion for meeting eligible men; the desirable places to live; the salary and possibilities for raises.

Women have found themselves in a new world—one full of opportunities for successful careers—but it will take a necessary period of adjustment before such careers can be developed. Graduating University women have found that chance now.

Rumor has it that this spring the young men's fancies of Sigma Chi have lightly turned to thoughts of a Sweetheart Dance. Now, of course, the plans haven't even been made, but we will print a few names of girls whom we think eligible, and the betting odds in the next issue.

Since this column involves some of the more common gambling devices known as dice, the following two-to-one odds will be given on the following "hot tip":

a. That the latest "Pin Pals," Buddy Gwilium and Helen Millman will still clear up until the project is put on a matrimonial basis.

Here's the set up. A committee composed of the wilted lettuce in my billfold, a private loan agency for Phi Beta Kappas who made good, and the change I get from selling cigarette butts to the Smoke and Puff cigarette corporation for re-conditioning, hereby agrees to pay off one coke to any person who can prove that these predictions aren't still holding good at the end of the quarter.

FLASH! If I don't get an editor's note at the bottom of the column, stating that the Kernel is not to be held responsible, in case these wild plans go wrong, I shall be very hurt.

—And here are some more predictions hot off the grape vines:

b. Bob Ogden and Betty Jo Woolum will be married by the end of the summer.

c. Lib Street and Farrel Trompetee will stay unpinched, as is their present status.

d. Gerry Gooch and Joe Benewitz will be pinned.

e. Marjean Wenstrup will, under Dick Youngerman's supervision, bash in the front end of her new off-the-top car, before the quarter is over.

f. That Becky Bryan, incoming freshman, will become most popular with Phi Deltas.

g. That Martha Yates did not get her black eye from running into a door, like she has been telling everyone. (Legal evidence must be presented to receive claims in this case.)

h. That Margaret Champ will be wearing a Phi Delt pin before long. Current bets are on A. B. Duncan. (Abbie, or whatever he calls himself.)

i. That Miller Drake, the Sig Ep who has Jean Paxton all pinned up, will make it last; but not to committing marriage.

j. That Steve Banahan will have at least three more dates with that nurse friend of his.

k. We absolutely refuse to make predictions about Tom Mosley and Judy Johnson, so don't ask.

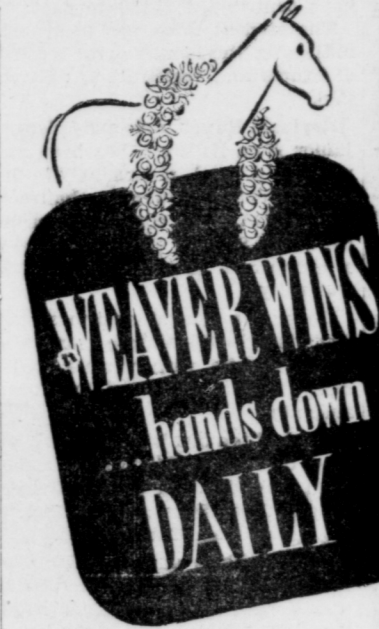

l. That June Scott and Jack Tingle will split up for keeps this quarter.

m. That Jane Ellen Buchanan and Fielding Rogers will remain all split-up.

n. That Iva Lou Ross and Noah McDonald will go steady.

o. So will Jean Wyman and Henry Wright. (If ASTs have to leave because Uncle Sam wants them to, claims don't count.)

p. That certain Kappa girls will

His "FOTO FINISH" Is a Full Report On Kentucky Sports

BUCK WEAVER . . . The Louisville Times ace Sports Reporter, is not likely to let you forget the horses, simply because there's a wartime ban on racing. This superb raconteur of the sport of kings can reminisce indefinitely from his boundless fund of knowledge of turf and paddock, and an acquaintanceship among horsemen unmatched in Kentucky.

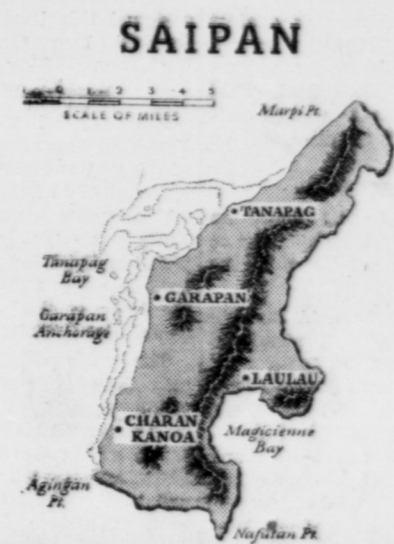

Long before he bounced the scales above 200 pounds, Buck was carrying weight in sports circles. Born in Louisville, he managed ball clubs while still at Male High, circulated in semi-pro cage leagues, and worked his way up on the links, caddyding to golf champs during matches. But a glance at the walls around his desk proves that his first love is horses. "Paddock Palaver" was his initial turf column, back in 1926 . . . and he's been writing "Foto Finish" since 1936. Weaver's Selections have been carried by Associated Press in papers from coast to coast since 1931. Vice president of the Kentucky Turf Writers' Association, he has long been a member of the committee of Turf and Sports Digest's "Horse of the Year" poll.

Buck's favorite horses for all time are 1918 Derby winner Exterminator; Equipoise, entered in 1931, but didn't run, and Whirlaway, winner of the Kentucky Derby in 1941. The lives and times of these and many other horses are an open American Racing Manual to Weaver.

This tiny dot in the Pacific...

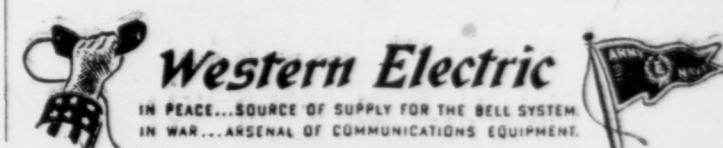

has more communications equipment than a city of 190,000 people!

The little island of Saipan today has communications facilities greater than those of Hartford, Connecticut. Without this vast array of telephone, teletype and radio apparatus—much of it made by Western Electric—Saipan could not play its key part as an army, navy and air base in the great drive our fighting forces are making toward Tokyo.

When you realize that Saipan is only one small island—and that many more bases must be taken and similarly developed—you get some idea of the job still ahead.

Today the manpower and manufacturing facilities of Western Electric are devoted to meeting our fighters' increased needs. That's why there is not enough telephone equipment for all civilian requirements.

A MEMBER OF THE CLASS OF 1845

Spickiness and spanness were de rigueur in the colleges of the 1840s. This portrait depicts a member of the Class of 1845 attired for the Junior Prom. Observe the height of his stock and the costly ruffles on his shirt.

In that same year, 1845, the Mexican War was imminent. Railway Express service was 6 years old. The colleges were few. Now, a century later, America is fighting a global war, the colleges are counted by thousands, and our service is nation-wide.

Today, the colleges are training students for the armed services; and the rail and air facilities of Railway Express are being largely utilized for the speeding of war-goods shipments. So, to help all concerned, please do three simple things with your 1945 home packages and baggage: Pack them securely—address clearly and adequately—avoid abbreviating state names.

YMCA Needs Men

The YMCA is not able to contact all the men on this campus personally, but we feel that there are many who could help us a great deal by their membership and also many whom we can help.

If you are interested in the YMCA—what it does or how it functions—we invite you to come to the office on the main floor of the Student Union building and make application for membership.

Have A Coke

By Ruth Perlmutter

If most of the University students went down to the Red Cross blood bank to donate their blood, the doctors would doubtlessly find no red and white corpuscles but Coca-Cola. (This is not a paid commercial).

Cokes in the grill, Cokes in the book store, Cokes in the dorm, Cokes at Rose street, Cokes in the tavern, bottles, bottles, and more bottles!

Mr. Jimmy Morris of the book-store reports that he gets 60 cases of Coca-Cola twice a week, and he would take more if he could get them. There are 24 bottles in a case; that's 1,440 Cokes twice a week.

In the Grill, between 800 and 1,000 small cokes are made a day. All this in addition to the other drinks that people order during the day.

After taking a poll of about fifty soldiers stationed on the campus, it was found that the average number of cokes they drink a day is three; while the average number of cokes that civilian students drink is five.

If it can't come in bottles, it comes from the grill, but students must have their "pause that refreshes."

Mr. Morris tells the story of the insurance agent who came to collect the fee one day, and almost broke his back on the forty-some-odd cokes bottles scattered in the post office. He threatened to discontinue the insurance policy if he found bottles lying all over the place when he came again, saying that they were a definite safety hazard.

Discovered in the course of interviewing about 100 persons was one rarity—a freshman boy who does not drink Coca-Cola. He claims he doesn't like them.

PERSONALITIES

Weisenberger—1929

Major George A. Weisenberger, who has completed 33 months tour of duty overseas with headquarters in the Africa-Middle East theatre, Cairo, Egypt, was presented with the Legion of Merit on March 2 and was granted a home leave. Major Weisenberger, who is a native of Ashland, is a signal corps officer. Holding a reserve commission in Field Artillery, he was called to active duty in June, 1941, and was sent overseas approximately one year later. He changed his branch of service to the signal corps and during his long tour of Middle East duty he was called upon to obtain from various governmental agencies, including the Egyptian State and Sudanese Governments, signal facilities and to co-ordinate them with the British Army and Royal Air Force.

Lieutenant Allen looks forward to returning to the University. He was an All-Star basketball and football player in prep school and held the Tennessee state prep golf title for two years.

Taylor—1938

Major Tom R. Taylor of Morganfield, Ky., graduate of the University in 1938, has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for meritorious service. He has been in the Army Air Force three and one-half years and has served in the Panama Canal Zone and in the India-Burma theatre for ten months.

Sutherland—1943

Lt. Willis R. Sutherland Jr. of Lexington is said to have designed a weapon, a king-sized sling shot which would shoot white phosphorus grenades into German positions. Lieutenant Sutherland's first production, the V-16, was discarded, however, and the V-17 came into being. It is an ordinary rifle grenade launcher shaped to accommodate cylindrical thermite grenades.

Corporal John O. Moore of Avoca, Indiana, who has been a gunner on a B-24 Liberator bomber, has arrived at the 15th AAF in Italy, and has been assigned to a veteran combat group. His group has more than 170 missions to its credit over most of the European countries. Prior to his entrance into the service, July 26, 1943, he was a student at the University. He received his wings in Yuma, Ariz.

Greenwood—Ex

S/Sgt. Ralph W. Greenwood of Dayton, O., has arrived at Army Air Forces Redistribution Station No. 2 in Miami Beach for reassignment processing, after completing a tour outside the continental United States. Sergeant Greenwood was an oxygen generating plant technician in the Asiatic-Pacific theatre. He is a former student of the University.

Duncan—1943

First Lieutenant Nancy G. Duncan of Lexington, has recently been promoted from a second lieutenant. She is a physio-therapist with the 70th hospital unit in Italy and has been with the 70th General Hospital in Africa and Italy. Lieutenant Duncan wears the Mediterranean theater campaign ribbon with one battle participation star.

Trott—1931

Captain William D. Trott has been promoted to major. Major Trott, whose home is in Evansville, Indiana, held a reserve commission in the Army and was called to active duty as a second lieutenant in September 1941. He was stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison for 19 months and then attended the Special Services school at Fort Meade, Maryland, in May 1942. Upon completion of the course he was placed on the teaching staff of the school. In 1943 Major Trott went to Brazil and has been on duty in the Theater Special Service office there since that time.

Trimble—Ex

Lt. Frank G. Trimble Jr., USNR, of Lexington, has returned from a tour of combat duty in the Pacific, where he was assigned to a large task group in one of the Navy's fast carrier task forces. He participated in actions at Guam, Tinian, Palau, Pelelieu, the Philippines, Formosa, French Indo-China, Hong Kong and Okinawa Gunto. The task group shot down 523 Jap planes, destroyed hundreds of others on the ground and helped to sink 544 Jap ships, of which 65 were combat ships.

Lewis

Lieutenant Norman V. Lewis, USNR, of Ashland, has returned from a tour of combat duty as pilot of a torpedo bomber based on one of the Navy's big aircraft carriers in the Pacific. Attached to the torpedo squadron of Air Group II, he flew an Avenger and chalked up 25 missions during his highly intensive cruise. He took part in the air strikes against Okinawa, Formosa, Luzon, Leyte, Indo-China and Hong Kong. He previously saw action on the Solomon. Recently he scored numerous damaging attacks on enemy ground installations and equipment. His accurate bombing knocked out warehouses, revetments, and hangars. In addition he got in several crippling blows against Japanese shipping.

Beard—1940

Captain Elliott B. Beard of Shelbyville, a P-47 Thunderbolt fighter bomber pilot, has been awarded the Air Medal after completing five combat missions. Captain Beard dives-bombs and strafes German tanks, trucks, railroad trains, gun positions and strong points in front of American doughboys. He flies with the "Hell Hawk" group which destroyed or damaged 337 Nazi vehicles on the first two days of the German December offensive. Captain Beard is credited with being on the mission which turned a Jerry armored spearhead south, away from the important supply and communications center of Liege in Belgium.

Perry—1935

Captain Sanford C. Perry of Lexington has returned from service outside the United States and is now being processed through the Army Ground and Service Forces Redistribution Station at Miami Beach. He served 33 months with a quartermasters unit in the Asiatic-Pacific theatre where he was awarded the Distinguished Unit Citation, and his campaign ribbon shows three battle stars. He became a member of the armed forces April 12, 1941.

An Old One!

By Mary Jane Dorsey

The Easter bonnet you wear this year will be an "old" one.

You'll look smarter and be fashion-wise if you choose a style-copy worn by 17th century artists. The chapeaus of '45 are copied from original portraits by world famous painters such as Degas, Renoir, Manet, and Pragonard in a portrait pretty preview.

For variety and top-knot billing, you'll choose a Victorian cloche, or a smart "artist's own" beret in a soft crush-velvet. Or perhaps a coy, back-trim of gay flowers giving a charming bustle effect would please you. Miniatures, this time a gay profusion of tiny, beflowered confections, are the modern design. The more-hat influence may be achieved by dramatic placement of large flowers, usually roses or peonies.

As an admirer of pastels in painting, so you are an admirer of new pastel shades. The hats look as if they have come directly from the painter's palette with a wide shade range in each basic color. Brightest are the varied fuchsia shades, tan, and a shimmer of pastels in painting, coral, lime green and fresh, new lilac, which deepens into a rich violet called Brittany. The faithful natural tones have been "mellowed" and renamed stratosphere grey, toast, and burnt. Then, there's always black, brown and navy as the essential accessory colors. "Off" white is black's co-star again this season, with lime and chateau greens in the smaller-portraiture.

Since suits are destined to play a stellar role in fashion, sailors of all sizes claim attention — diminutive doll sailors with high cylinder crowns, bicycle sailors with boxy, head-fitting crown and small brims. To the other extreme, large cartwheels with compelling crowns.

The style idea is old, the shades are new. What if your suit is old, your hat will be new!

Jewell Hall Elects New Officers

New Course For Coeds Study In Blue --- Airmail

By Frances Keller

Many University coeds are spending as much if not more time in writing letters than in actual study in these war times. This came to light when a Kernel reporter discovered that coeds are writing from five to twenty-five letters a week and that these range from three to twenty-five pages each, and some require as much as three hours to write.

Return Mail Worth It

Most of the girls queried, said that they write at least one letter a day to "that special person," not to mention three or four others per day to other persons, and the return is well worth the time for the average coed receives as many letters a week as she writes.

Of course, due to the war, the mail service is often held up, and the letters may be a little slow in arriving, but it's mighty nice to get a stack of from five to ten letters at the same time, they explain.

As for the importance the coeds place on mail, one needs only to pay a visit to the Union during the noon rush. Many a coed makes that mad dash to the telephone to call home and see if she received any mail. And if so, the groom takes on a rosier hue and the gloom vanishes. "I have the most let down feeling when I don't get any mail because after all that's about all there is to look forward to," said one coed in summing up the situation.

"I wait for the mail every morning before leaving for school," said one Lexington coed, "and I can always tell if I have a letter because the postman has a smile on his face if I do, but if that smile isn't there, I know I didn't get one."

Letters Compared

Many complications arise out of the war when the girls are writing and receiving so many letters from the same boys. Even as in old times when lines were compared, letters may be compared these days.

And what about V-Mail? The consensus of opinion from overseas is that regular letters are preferred. There's just something more normal and closer-to-home about an ordinary letter written on pink or blue stationery, and so much more can be put into one. This is by no means meant to discourage V-Mail writing, because for safety and quickness it is a step ahead of ordinary mail service for overseas writing.

And if you write everyday and from ten to fifteen pages at that, just what is there to tell a person. Well, every little bit of news counts. The ordinary run of events and how you spend every hour may seem dreadfully boring and unimportant, but to the boys in the army it seems a storehouse of pleasure and makes for that closer-to-home feeling, so the coeds have learned.

Yes, letters, more than anything else, keep up the morale not only of the boys in the service, but of the girls back home.

Vet Club Elects New Officers

On March 12, at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the University Veterans' club, new officers were elected to replace those who have been serving since the club was founded last fall.

The following men were elected to serve during the coming school year: Joe Covington, commander; Bill Fulton, lieutenant commander; Bill Price, adjutant; Joe Ward, paymaster; Paul F. Sands, sergeant-at-arms; Clay Salver, publicity manager, and Jack Burgin, reporter.

The Lowe-Down

By Dick Lowe

The Wildcats gained nation-wide recognition this year when the sports writers and the opposing teams began picking the all-star and all-foe teams. Jack Parkinson and Jack Tingle landed berths on the Michigan State all-opponent squad, selected by 10 Spartan letter-winners. Even the greatness of Alex Groza was not forgotten, after only one meeting, as he was placed on the alternate quintet.

After the Southeastern conference when the sports writers gathered to select the All-Conference team, there were three of the Cats on the first team: Jack Tingle, Jack Parkinson, and Dutch Campbell; with Buddy Parker, Wilbur Schu, and Johnny Stough receiving honorable mention.

The Fighting Irish from Notre Dame selected Jack Tingle as a member of their all-foe team, as the Irish well remember how near Tingle came to defeating them at their meeting in the Armory at Louisville.

Pic magazine chose Wilbur Schu as a member of their All-American second team.

Our friends from Tennessee were defeated in their first game of the Invitational 51-44 by Rhode Island and therefore there can be no repetition of the Southeastern conference in Madison Square Garden.

The basketball team registered early Tuesday morning and then rushed off so as to be at the station on time to catch the Eastbound special. The NCAA tournament started last night with the Cats playing the Ohio State Buckeyes in the second game of the meet. Kentucky defeated Ohio State earlier in the season, but the odds favored the Buckeyes in this game.

Among the notable guests at Madison Square Garden for the NCAA tournament will be Dr. H. L. Donovan who traveled to New York to cheer the team on to victory, with high hopes of bringing back the championship to the school of which he is president.

12 Wildcats Are Given K's

Twelve University Wildcats were honored at an alumni association banquet here Tuesday night, when the players were awarded varsity letters.

Those awarded letters were: Jack Tingle, Wilbur Schu, Jack Parkinson, Kenton (Dutch) Campbell, Buddy Parker, Ed Allin, Bill Sturgill, Johnny Stough, James Durham, Alonzo Nelson, George Vulich, and Alex Groza.

Numerals were awarded to Deward Compton, Ernest Sparkman, Chester Duff, and Singleton Yeary. Groza was the team's leading scorer when he left for the Army with the season half over.

Kentucky won 17 out of 20 regular season games and captured the Southeastern Conference, defeating Tennessee in the finals, in a tournament at Louisville.

Assistants Appointed

Bostick was thus available for the job at Kentucky.

Coach Shively said that Bostick was in Lexington earlier this month for an interview and that he expressed interest in the position, provided that he was not called into military service. When he returned home he discovered that he had been classified 2A (L), a designation of limited service.

Bostick is married and has one child. Through appointing an assistant coach, Head Coach Shively has taken the first step in strengthening the Wildcat coaching staff since he took office on February 24. On that date Ab Kirwan resigned as head mentor and transferred his interests to the history department of the University. Last year Kirwan and Shively carried the burden alone except for the assistance of Rome Rankin of Eastern, who helped during the summer period, until he was recalled by the Richmond school.

Coach Shively has announced that the summer football practice will start around June 18, a week after the summer quarter starts at the University.

Although Bostick was a line coach at Howard and Alabama, Shively declined to say what position that Bostick would handle here. Shively himself handled the line drills under Kirwan but the chances are that he will give his attention to the back field men and leave the forward duties to Bostick and the other assistants who will be named later.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY CAMPUS AS VIEWED FROM THE AIR

UK's 'Looking Ahead' Plan Features Fieldhouse

By Betty Tevis

Kentucky's post-war field house came a step nearer to becoming a reality when tentative contracts were approved for employment of architects to plan the million-dollar structure. At the same time, administrators and engineers talked over conference tables and drafting boards of a new women's dorm which will house 200 coeds and a food service unit for the men's dorm units.

Kentucky is looking ahead to the day when 6,000 students will be a normal enrollment and a field house seating 10,000 will be packed with spectators for Wildcat sport tilts.

Policy Not New

That "looking-ahead" policy is not a new one. It began back in 1937, according to E. B. Farris, chief engineer of the Maintenance and Operations department, with the building of the University's central heating plant. Planned by the college of engineering and built to provide steam heat for every campus building, the plant was the "most important building ever constructed from the viewpoint of ultimate economy."

In ten years, with the 55% aid of PWA and WPA, the state of Kentucky has constructed six new major buildings and three minor structures — mere portents of post-war buildings to come.

In 1937 and 1938 the Engineering quadrangle was constructed, consolidating scattered engineering buildings all over the campus.

Union Built In 1938

Where students congregated before the construction in 1938 of the now-indispensable Student Union building is an unanswerable question. Perhaps they lounged in the corner of what is now studio atop McVey hall, once a cafeteria.

A soda fountain occupied one corner of Studio A, and the YM and YW officers once were located on the second floor of old Barker hall. Now both of these necessary components of campus life have their headquarters in the sprawling Union building.

Other Constructions

Lafayette hall, the one with the glass brick corners, was constructed in 1939 for the law department. Formerly lawyers debated on the second floor of the Health building.

In 1939 and 1940 the Biological Sciences building, costing a half-million dollars, and Jewell hall were built simultaneously. In 1940 the Home Economics building was constructed to house a rapidly-growing department of study which formerly occupied only the basement of the Agriculture building.

Minor buildings constructed during these years were a wing for the Experiment station in 1937, an animal pathology building in 1943, and a coal research laboratory in 1944.

A general face-lifting program has accompanied the building policy and Memorial hall, Frazee hall, Barker and Union have undergone painting operations.

John Violette Began What Promises To Be An Entertaining Career

By June Baker

With an original 15-minute script, recently presented by the University radio studio in its regular Saturday program, John Violette, freshman, began what promises to be an entertaining college career.

"Backstage," as John appropriately named the murder mystery, exemplifies his ability to attract the attention of his audience with a problem, and to hold it with a surprisingly well planned solution.

Official Script Writer . . .

The slight, blonde journalism student from Lebanon has been named official script writer for the new FM station, WBKY. Already he has adapted "The Three Cows" by Jose Campos, who has written under the non-de-plume, "Jack-the-Ripper," to radio for use in the near future. For the new station he will write the five minute Kentuckiana news broadcast Wednesday evening and 15 minute short stories for the Saturday presentation. The short stories will be comedies and mysteries.

Also Director

John, whose every molecule seems to be bubbling over with energy, is also co-author with O. J. Gonnello of a musical comedy to be sponsored by the Independent party in the earlier part of this quarter. The few students who came for the first try-outs for what they thought would be merely a variety show thrown together haphazardly, left the meeting with new enthusiasm and some of John's energy. Director as well as author, he has appointed committees to make all necessary arrangements and to search for additional talent. The first rehearsals will be held within the next two weeks.

His work here is not without experience to back it. For many years he has been interested in writing and producing. He is the advertising manager for the Amateur Movie Producers of America, a unique organization which comprises all the teen-age non-professional movie groups.

Made Three Movies

With his group in Lebanon, John has made three movies, one of which, The Vampire, is the longest ever produced by members of the AMPA. Like other movies made by the national organization, the Lebanon production "Ghost Waltz" was presented in nearby schools and for war benefits. Although it was scheduled to be run only once on one occasion, the audience demanded that it be run seven times. John believes it is the only such movie to be shown in a theater.

The two other movies made by this group have not yet been released. John explains that the 3,800 foot Vampire will likely be remade after the war, since "we feel it is a good idea and that we can do a better job of it."

Also Writes Sports

Another of his creations, "The 10c Store Imp—A 10c Store Laugh," was published in the Courier-Journal Roto Section in 1942. In addition to the creative writing, John has written—sports. While he was in high school, he was sports editor for two local newspapers.

Upon being asked what became of his manuscripts, he replied, "Dillard and I are going to paper our room with rejection slips since Dr. Ward will not paint it." His roommate, Dillard Hilman, also a freshman from Lebanon, has worked with John on the movies and on many of his other achievements.

Shelby Elected WAA President

Pat Shely, Lexington junior, has been elected president of WAA for 1945-46. Mary Jane Dorsey, junior from Horse Cave, was elected vice-president. Violet Turner, junior from Drift, was elected secretary, and Betty Swift, Lexington junior, was voted treasurer.

Miss Shely, who will succeed Jane Oldham, is a member of the University band, a member of the CAP, and Tau Sigma.

Miss Dorsey is a member of the Kernel staff, Tau Sigma, Theta Sigma Phi pledge, and Jewell hall secretary.

Violet Turner is a transfer student from Pikeville Junior college.

Jane Oldham, WAA president, announced that soft ball practice for the spring quarter will be held at 4 p.m. Monday through Friday behind Patterson hall.
